The background of the entire poster is a photograph of three glasses of beer. The two glasses on the left are filled with a dark, amber-colored beer and have a thick, white head of foam. The glass on the right is empty and appears to be a tall, clear tumbler glass. Wisps of white steam or smoke are rising from the surface of the beer in the two filled glasses, creating a sense of warmth and freshness. The lighting is dramatic, with the glasses and the steam being the primary light sources against a dark, blurred background.
